

The WA Board was invited to provide you with comments on the protocols for supervisors and supervisees.

My only comment is about the extent of the documentation. Given that they must be read with other guidelines and standards the volume is significant and maybe a barrier to their optimal use. The titles of the Guidelines and protocols are so similar that they may confuse many an applicant. Given that the protocols are virtually identical could they not be one document that is suitable to be read by both parties?

Kind regards
